NEVENS—RISSE

The West Dublin St. Matthew's Presbyterian Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding Sept. 19, when Margaret Lillian, daughter of Mr and Mrs Erlend Risse of West Dublin, Nova Scotia, became the bride of Lendall Henry Nevens, son of Mrs Fred Haines of East Bethel. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev L Elliott of La Have.

The bride came up the aisle on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march. She was very lovely in a gown of white slipper satin with imported lace inserts on the skirt with cathedral train, a tightly molded bodice of lace, topped with a yoke of nylon net bordered by a lace ruffle. The sleeves were long and of lace coming to a point over the hand. It was completed by a veil of matching lace and illusion trimmed with seed pearls. She wore an antique brooch worn by her grandmother at her wedding, and carried a bouquet of red roses, yellow gladiolus buds and ferns with white streamers tied with pink rose buds.

Miss Margaret Oxner of Halifax was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Evelyn Weagle and Miss Nancy Magdonald. The flower girl was Linda Mae Bushen.

The groom and his best man, Stanley Gallant of Bethel, wore white flannel trousers with blue coats. The boutonnières were white carnations.

Out of town guests were from Bethel, Maine, Bridgewater, Liverpool, Mahone Bay, Dublin Shore, Halifax and La Have.

The bride and groom left Sept. 23 for Lewiston, where they reside at 48 Sylvan Ave.

Thou shalt call his name Jesus: for he shall save his people from their sins. (Matthew 1:21.)

MAN cannot save himself. It is God who saves. At the time of the Advent, God came to the rescue of man, revealing Himself through His only begotten Son, Jesus. It is all so wonderful and yet so true. Jesus lived among us. He was full of grace and truth.

Many people living today have experienced the reality of Jesus and His saving power. It is He that saves, redeems, and brings a new, real life.

The human race cannot enjoy peace and security unless it recognizes Jesus as its Saviour. To solve the problems which confront humanity today men filled with the spirit and power of God are needed. To God's will be our peace. The problems will find solution only in Jesus. In Him alone and in His Gospel freedom and justice are united by the bond of love. How wonderful that God in His merciful goodness has sent Jesus among us. Have you accepted this Peace-maker?

Prayer

O God, we thank Thee from the depths of our hearts for Thy revelation in Christ Jesus. We walked in darkness, and Thou gavest us the Light; we were lost, and Thou gavest us a Saviour. Make us true witnesses of Thy salvation, and thereby give us peace. In our blessed Redeemer's name. Amen.

Thought For The Day

By LYTTLE HULL
A CONVERSATION which your correspondent recently "eavesdropped" in the solarium of a hospital where he was recuperating almost brought on a relapse. Two men were discussing the election, and one was explaining very clearly that the economic structure of this nation could not weather another four years of New Deal uncontrolled—and by now uncontrollable—spending. He cited that no President elected on the Democratic ticket could be in a position to reduce the present runaway situation. He stated that if the New Deal was returned, he expected to be financially ruined within the next few years. (Silently we agreed with him one hundred per cent.)

Not 10 minutes later we were startled to hear this same man say that he was not going to vote at the coming election, as he was infuriated at the way Eisenhower's men had "stolen" the nomination from Taft. There was a sort of stunned silence for a few moments and then his friend stood up and delivered himself about as follows:

"You and I, Bill, have been very successful, self-made men I know using my brains. But after the statement you have just made, I'm damned if I can understand how you made yours. You have just said that if the New Deal is returned in November you expected before long to have to sell your business and your home in the country for some worthless deflated dollars and that your wife and children—and nearly everyone else's wives and children in this country—would be hard-pressed to make ends meet. And now you tell me that you are going to present the 'deceitful' with this through your thick head. Bill! The American people—or at least those who can see the cat's paw ahead—are not voting FOR ANY-ONE. They are voting AGAINST a bureaucratic oligarchy which if returned will ruin us."

By LYNN CONNELLY
NEARLY EVERY successful person has a definite philosophy—a credo for reaching a goal. But until CBS radio introduced the series "This I Believe," there was no avenue through which they could share their ideas by the simple means of calm conversation.

Edward R. Murrow, noted CBS radio news broadcaster, is the host of "This I Believe," and with his fellow newsmen, Edward P. Morgan, the program's producer, he has tapped a precious lode in the mine of contemporary thought.

People whose names represent widely diverse lines of endeavor—Helen Keller, Pearl Buck, James O. DuPont, Eleanor Roosevelt, to name a few of the scores—have spoken on the five-minute program and revealed their rules for happy, successful living. "This I Believe" is not a church program in the denominational sense, but it does promote principles that every church advocates. The broadcasts are republished in newspapers, put on phonograph records and published in pamphlet form. It is the kind of bettering that renews an individual's faith in himself and others.

IDOL CHATTER
"I'm With Lutz" made its TV debut recently and we predict it will do better in this medium than on radio. If that is possible, J. Carroll Nash is lovable as Lutz and, of course, is extremely visual in his role. All in all, it was a much more triumphant transition from radio to TV than "My Friend Irma" experienced.

Allen W. Barkley has been signed for a radio-TV series to be broadcast next year when he's no longer in office. It will feature noted guests discussing current affairs.

GOULD ACADEMY

GOULD 31-NORWAY 12

Goold Academy ran up its highest score of the season last Saturday to trounce Norway 31-12 and remain in the undefeated class. The first touchdown for Goold came early in the first period as Melville romped 50 yards to score. The Huskies scored again after Melville placed the ball on the 1 foot line from where Linnell carried over. Both extra points were missed, leaving G. A. ahead 12-0 at the quarter.

The second stanza saw Norway getting back into the ball game with a T. D. after a succession of passes which were completed to Tracy, Broderick and Williams.

Goold came back strong in the final half with Murphy and Linnell each scoring. The Norwegians also scored on a 10 yard pass and 45 yard run by Hacker, making the third period score 25-12.

In the final period, the "Blue and Gold" added to their total on a scoring play by Adams. The extra point was missed and Goold won 31-12.

ROASTS AND CHOPS are excellent when accompanied by prunes prepared like this: boil 3 cups prunes in 5 cups water for 10 minutes. Add 2 unpeeled lemons, cut in thin slices, 2 cups sugar, 1/2 cup sliced preserved ginger and simmer an hour.

Potato soup, corn chowder or bouillabaisse take on an interesting flavor and appearance when garnished with meaty wedges of ripe olives floated on the soup.

A good sandwich filling with which to add variety to lunches uses 2 large frankfurters ground with 1/2 cup unblanched almonds with 1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard, salt to taste and mayonnaise to give a spreading consistency.

A good hot beverage for teenagers and their parties uses a can of apricot whole fruit nectar, a few sticks of cinnamon, a few

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

American Pizza Pie
(Serves 4)

1 pound beef
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 cup canned tomatoes drained
1/2 cup shredded American cheese
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1/2 teaspoon dried basil
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion grains of salt and 1/4 cup orange marmalade, heated to boiling. Pour into mugs and add a teaspoon of butter. It's wonderful!

Here's a quick and lovely dessert for a children's party. Place canned cling peaches on a baking tray and fill each peach half with a marshmallow. Broil until marshmallows melt.

Mix meat with salt and pepper. Put out into patties and sides of a pinch pie pan. Fill with tomatoes and sprinkle with remaining ingredients. Bake in a moderate heat 375° F. for 20 minutes. To serve, cut in wedges.

When meat you have meat loaf, do something slightly different. Shape the meat mixture into individual loaves and bake with catnip or lavender leaves before taking.

Chili powder added to pork chops just before you broil them gives them a tangy, interesting taste. To keep the meat moist, cover with tomato sauce for a nice tangy taste.

LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

In today's seminar we will discuss "Education." That, says Henry, should be something you aid education, he says. And that right there knows that everybody don't nifty everything on today's subject. Henry figures education is something you get only in a book—he don't figure, I reckon, that a lick in your breadbasket by a mule is also education—it teaches you that jeopardy lurks if you don't watch your step when harnessing the critter. But to proceed, somebody is sounding-off via ponderous writin' and radio and etc.—and no end, that more schools are the only way to avoid communism. But checking up on the communist culprits of the U. S. A. who are being put in the coop you find no illiterates. So there is more to education than just school houses.

It is what you teach in the school house. A young fellow getting his sheepskin at a big university and then proceeding to take off on a socialistic maneuver to lower the boom on private ownership, demonstrates the young fellow does that horse sense was not included in his curriculum.

But in closing, and to show that I am not against books—and to round out your education—I suggest "Aesop" as one to dust off and peruse kindergarten to Ph.D. from 5 years old to 100.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERIA

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father has called to Her eternal home Sister Amy Bennett.

Be it resolved:

That we, the members of Bear River Grange, while saddened at the loss of this beloved sister, rejoice that she has been relieved of suffering to enter into her heavenly rest, so richly deserved.

That we be ever mindful of her many years of loving service of ten ministering to the needs of the sick and ever walking humbly with her God.

That we ever strive to emulate those Christian virtues so beautifully exemplified throughout her long life by kindly and willing hands.

That these resolutions be filed in our grange records and that copies be sent to the family of the deceased and to the Bethel Citizen for publication.

Respectfully submitted:

THE AMERICAN WAY Afraid of Secret Ballot

by DeWitt
Emery

EDITOR'S NOTE: DeWitt Emery is president of the National Small Business Men's Association. Shortly after the Taft-Hartley Act was passed in 1947, William Green, President of the AF of L, Phil Murray, President of the CIO, and many other labor union leaders started a smear campaign to discredit the Act in the eyes of union members and the public. Among other things they called it a "slave labor law."

There never was any basis in fact for the "slave labor" contention but even so, it was a catchy phrase and a lot of gullible people swallowed it whole just as they do a lot of other propaganda of one kind or another.

The real reason Green, Murray and their cohorts are so much opposed to the Taft-Hartley Act is that it contains a provision for a secret ballot and this, as well as what scares the labor boys to death and is why President Truman is so reluctant to use the Act. He doesn't want to run the risk of embarrassing or hurting his good friends and political allies.

When the Taft-Hartley Act is invoked in an attempt to settle a labor dispute, an eighty-day waiting period is set up during which negotiations for settlement are carried on with the workers staying on the job. If the issues are not settled by negotiation within sixty days, then before a strike can be called an election must be held, under government supervision, and every member of the union given an opportunity to vote by secret ballot or whether he wants to accept his employer's last offer or go on strike.

The labor leaders know that a vast majority of the wives of union members are always opposed to a strike. "Mama" likes those regular pay checks and she knows, even if "Papa" doesn't, that in the end the family will be way ahead for him to take whatever raise he can get without a strike, without any loss of pay.

So, on a secret ballot a majority of the union members might very well vote against a strike, some of them because they have been opposed to a strike all along and others because they want to keep peace at home.

If in any labor dispute a secret ballot election were held and a majority voted not to strike, this would be a repudiation of the union leadership and might force some of these boys out of their high salaried jobs. That, of course, must be avoided at all costs even if it means that the "boys" have to sell the President of the United States on violating his oath of office. When you get down to bedrock, what does a little thing like a solemn oath or the Constitution itself mean to these power-hungry union labor bosses?

Following Truman's victory in '48, the union brass, starting in January, '49, made an all-out effort to have Congress repeal the Taft-Hartley Act. This effort failed, as all other similar efforts will fail, because one of the principle things this Act does is to protect rank and file union members from the unlimited authority union officials had over them under the Wagner Act.

The Taft-Hartley Act will stay on the books because it gives much needed protection against unscrupulous labor leaders to union members and the public.

This Act, however, has one great weakness: it does not ban industry-wide bargaining, which is what gives the unions their present life and death control over the economy of the whole country.

Industry-wide bargaining must go sooner or later unless we want the country run by a labor dictatorship. Other monopolies, when they became dangers to the public welfare, were smashed by congressional action and the labor union monopoly, which is more dangerous than any of the others ever were, must be broken up in the same way.

It'll be very much surprised if an effort, a very powerful effort, to amend the Taft
